CHANGES IN POLICE

NIGHT AND DAY FORCE WILL NOW PATROL CITY CONTINUOUSLY

"The city after careful consideration of what would most certainly secure greater efficiency in the policing of the city has come to the determination to separate the city police force into two divisions. In this way we will be able to get the greatest good out of the small number of men at our disposal," said Mr. T. W. Watson, city manager, to a representative of The Glendale News.

"Glendale has a police force of which any city might well be proud. I question if any city has a personnel in its police of higher grade than this city possesses. They have been efficient and faithful. There have been no scandals among them and they have always acted in a manner that reflects the highest credit on the city.

"We have determined, however, in order to get the greatest measure of service out of the small force of six men at our disposal, to separate them into two groups. The first of these groups will consist of two men who shall constitute the day force; the other will be the night force and will consist of four men. Mr. Herald will have charge of the day force and Mr. Lawrence of the night force.

"I wish it to be clearly understood that the object of the present change is merely to effect more perfect organization of the department. Hereafter the city may depend on having as perfect protection at night as through the day. As is only proper the night force is now stronger than the day force. Each man will have one day off in seven and until the city funds permit of adding to the force the men will work from 9 to 10 hours daily, as they have been accustomed.

"One result of this reorganization will be that all the officers of the department will be on the outside force. The office work of the department will be taken care of along with the other accounts of the public welfare department.

"Glendale is blessed with a remarkable absence of crime. The community is law-abiding and home-loving. The work of the police has never been onerous and especially through the day there is a conspicuous lack of demand for anything except a careful eye to the observance of the city ordinances and whatever other service the needs of the day may demand.

"We have always felt the need of a stronger force of officers at night. The greater proportion of crimes are committed after dark descends on the city. Citizens may now rest assured that there will be an officer on call in each district after dark and may feel considerably more secure than they have ever done.

"It might be well for citizens to remember that, at any hour of the day or night, they can get in touch with the police department by calling Glendale 1300.

MONEY MORE PLENTIFUL

According to J. F. Lilly, 1106 W. Broadway, there is a great deal of extra money in the country that is on the lookout for investment. Mr. Lilly's wide experience in the loan business brings him in contact with these conditions. He says that the difficulty that exists at present is to get this money into circulation. Real estate is not moving and loans on real estate are difficult to handle because much property has partaken of the inflation of values of a few years ago and has already been mortgaged up to about 50 per cent of its value. Desirable loans are hard to get. "At the same time," said Mr. Lilly, "I believe that much of the vast amount of money that has recently come into the country must seek inpestment. Those who own real estate need not look for immediate opportunity to move it, however, they will have to wait."

HILL McGILLIS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McGillis were surprised Sunday evening by a brief visit from their son, Hill, who is in the naval training school. Hill was on the supply boat Glasier sent from San Francisco to Mexican waters. The boat stopped at San Diego and Hill obtained shore leave until 8 o'clock Monday morning. He made a flying visit, remaining at home only three hours.

USE OF HERBARIUM

FRED E. BURLEW TELLS HOW TO COLLECT AND MOUNT WILD FLOWERS

To make an herbarium useful it is desirable to select plants for specimens that are normal of their kind, and so far as possible secure specimens of every plant coming within the general scope of the herbarium and growing within the area that it is intended to cover. The difficulties of classification and identification will usually limit the ordinary herbarium sufficiently.

The professional will have his collecting press ordinarily consisting of two strong pieces of pasteboard such as the book bind rs use for their heavy book covers, cut 12 by 16 inches, with a quantity of cheap white paper cut in sheets 11 by 16 inches. He uses this by laying one of his pasteboards down with a sheet of paper on it and then a specimen plant on the paper, then two or three sheets of paper on the plant; then another plant and more paper, and more plants and paper as before until he has finished his collecting for the day when the second piece of pasteboard is placed on top and the whole held together to be carried home by a couple of straps, one around each end as shawl straps are used.

If only a few specimens are to be collected he will take his collecting box, usually a tin box, in shape a cylinder slightly flattened, about sixteen inches long and seven or eight inches through, with a door opening lengthwise on the side so that the specimens may be conveniently laid in. If the door shuts reasonably tight it is remarkable how long a plant may be kept fresh in such a box merely by placing a wet sponge or newspaper in the bottom of the box with the plant. My own is made of aluminum, 18 inches long by nine inches in diameter, with handle on the side and door the full length of the side and, while slightly more than regulation size, has proven very satisfactory. It was made for me by an aluminum worker with Kilts & Jackson company of 116 East Third street in Los Angeles.

For ordinary collecting where a few specimens are to be gathered not far from home, an ordinary market basket with some newspapers on the bottom dampened somewhat and some more for a cover, also dampened, will do quite as well as anything else. The specimens selected for the herbarium should be in full bloom and if not so large as to be unwieldy the whole plant should be taken, including the roots. When this is not practicable then sufficient to show the flower and leaf. When a plant has more than one kind of leaf it should be shown so far as possible by the herbarium. For example, the California Mugwort (artemisia hetrophylla), specimens of which may be found on the river banks near Ivanhoe—and the common black acacia (acacia melanoxylon) used so much in parkways, where the mature tree may not have any true leaves at all, although apparently clothed with dense foliage which turns out on careful examination to be merely expanded leafstalks, the true leaves being the pinnate ones found on the very young trees and sparingly on the lower branches of the more mature ones.

Some seeds should be secured if possible. After the specimens for the herbarium are secured take two or three to be used for analysis at home and no more, lest when the locality is next visited we find a sign "no trespassing allowed." The specimens selected, notes should be made on the spot showing the exact location of the plants, kind of soil in which they are growing, in sun or shade, and if under the friendly protection of a bush, tree or other plant, it should be noted, together with the date. It is well to note the neighbors. There is not the slightest danger of making the notes too full and complete, but much danger in the other direction.

SCHOOL AND CAMPUS

ALHAMBRA VS. GLENDALE—INTERESTING DEBATES AHEAD "BLACK AND RED"

The biggest basketball game of the season, between Glendale and Alhambra, will be pulled off on the local court at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. At present the league championship lies between Covina, Alhambra and Glendale. If we can beat Alhambra Saturday we will be in a pretty safe place for the championship. The result of Saturday's game will depend largely upon the support received from the bleachers. If you are at all interested attend the game next Saturday. You will see some good basketball and by showing interest you will at the same time be helping the team to win.

The results of the league games so far are as follows:

Dec. 11—Monrovia at Glendale, 9-51.

Dec. 12—Glendale at Covina, 24-26.

Jan. 8—Glendale at Harvard, 22-20.

Practice Games

Nov. 24—Glendale at Burbank, 18-8.

Nov. 17—U. S. C. Preps at Glendale, 9-29.

Dec. 1—Glendale at U. S. C., 31-18.

Dec. 8—Hollywood at Glendale, 28-20.

Dec. 14—Burbank at Glendale, 20-44.

Dec. 15—Glendale at Hollywood, 17-25.

Jan. 5—Glendale A. C. vs. G. H. S., 24-25.

Total score—350; opponents, 169.

Out of ten games Glendale has lost only three, which is certainly a good showing. It surely will be a dreadful disappointment if we are not able to take the scalps of the Alhambra babes after making such a fine showing to date.

Huntington Park vs. Glendale

"Resolved, That in the United States military training should be made a part of the high school course, it being conceded that we stand in need of better defense against foreign aggression."

This question caused a great deal of surprise and disappointment to the High School debators when it was announced last Friday. The general question, "National Defense," was given out several weeks ago. The debators had expected an entirely different sort of a question. They had read and studied upon the advisability of increasing the navy and other similar subjects. We have, however, one very great advantage in this question. Last year Howard Stickney, Frank Bridgeford and Joseph Maier, three members of the present team, debeated upon the same subject in the interclass debate.

Next Friday night Sam Durand and Howard Stickney, upholding the negative, will meet Huntington Park in the Glendale High auditorium. This will be the first time this year that these two debaters have spoken at home and it is expected that a large crowd will be out. After so much rain during the first part of the week it is almost a certainty that Friday evening will be a pleasant one. The Huntington Park team has been working diligently upon the subject and a splendid debate is expected. The Hon. Vincent Hannon, attorney, will act as one of the judges at Glendale.

Frank Bridgeford and Joseph Maier on the affairmative are expecting a victory at Huntington Beach.

Extemporaneous Debate

Glendale is also a member of the new state extemporaneous league. The first debate in this league will take place on Feb. 4. The University of California has chosen the general field of "Vocational Education in High Schools." The exact question will not be announced until 30 hours before the debate. Schools all over the state belong to the league. Glendale will debate at Lincoln High school. The schools entered in this debate are Santa Monica, Manual Arts, Lincoln and Glendale High Schools. Each school will send but one representative.

"Black and Red"

The forty-five minute assembly period was occupied last Friday in a very heated discussion upon the proposed weekly newspaper, "The Black and Red." The bill was not voted upon in the assembly, but even if it passes the house it very likely will either be lost in the senate or vetoed by the governor.

WEATHER FORECAST—Unsettled weather tonight and Thursday; probably showers; southeast winds.

WILD FLOWER PRIZES

GLENDALE BOTANICAL EXPERT OFFERS PREMIUM FOR BEST COLLECTION

Mr. Fred E. Burlew of 1415 Valley View road, North Glendale, noted authority on the collection and classification of wild flowers, has offered to the Garden Society through its president, Mrs. Nanno Woods, a first prize in the juvenile section of the Flower Show for the best collection of pressed, mounted and named wild flowers. To prove the sincerity of his offer, Mr. Burley has already forwarded to headquarters the valuable prize, a copy of "Wild Flowers of California," by Mary Elizabeth Parsons. This is the largest and most authentic book on California wild flowers yet published.

At the request of the president, Mr. Burlew has consented to write an article upon how to collect, press and mount specimens of plants and flowers; this most interesting article is in two parts. Part One will be found in this issue of the Evening News; Part Two will follow in the next issue. A close study of the valuable advice given by Mr. Burlew is recommended to teachers and all those interested in the study of wild flowers.

Young people are recommended to begin at once, this very day, their collection of specimens; each succeeding week reveals new floral beauties in field and highway, gather them as they come. Teachers not only in Glendale but from every section of the country are invited to aid their pupils in making this classified collection; we want entries from Burbank, Lankershim, San Fernando, Tropico, La Crescenta, La Canada, Montrose, Sunland, etc., etc.

Let teachers and young people everywhere get busy and gather the treasures of nature. Every school, every library, provides books which tell the names and habits of our California wild flowers; a collection made according to the rules laid down by Mr. Burlew will prove a life-long possession.

Following are valuable hints on how to prepare specimens:

Place the gathered specimens in a tin box with wet sponge or newspaper laid on bottom. Or a small basket with dampened newspaper under and over specimens will do nicely.

If not too large the whole plant should be gathered; flower in full bloom and several leaves must always be shown. If possible, also secure seeds.

Press and dry specimens between sheets of newspaper or blotting paper; lay a board on top, and a weight—a couple of rocks, some heavy books, or the weights from a pair of scales.

Change the papers every 12 hours for three days, leaving the papers actually touching the specimen undisturbed.

Mount the specimens on paper of standard herbarium size, i. e.: Eleven and a half by sixteen and a half. This rule will be strictly enforced.

In mounting, gum paper may be used. Of if preferred, specimen may be dropped onto a page smeared with liquid glue, then picked up and laid on the mounting sheet.

On bottom of mounting sheet must be neatly written the popular name and the botanical name of each specimen, and locality where gathered. Collector's name must on no account appear on the mounted sheets.

For further advice or information apply to Mrs. Nanno Woods, president Glendale Garden Society, 1111 W. Broadway, Glendale. This competition is open to all young people of High School age and under.

FRANCHISE FOR RAILROAD

By Ordinance No. 283, passed Monday, Jan. 17, the City of Glendale grants to the Pacific Electric Railway the right to construct, maintain and operate for a period of fifty years an electric railroad over Broadway from Glendale avenue in an easterly direction to the Childs' tract. The railroad will carry passengers, freight, baggage, express matter, mails and material for its own construction and maintenance. The tracks will not be wider than four feet, eight and a half inches and double tracked. The railroad is bound to pave or macadamize its tracks between the rails and for two feet on each side, to keep the same in repair, flush with the street and with good crossings. It is required to provide flumes and culverts for passage of water under the tracks. The city reserves the right to pave, macadamize, oil and sprinkle the streets and to lay pipes for water and gas. City marshal and deputies, regular police, firemen and letter carriers are to travel free. The work is to be begun within four months and to be completed within not more than four years.

SUPERVISION OF FOODS AND DRUGS

There is no doubt that the working of the bureau of Foods and Drugs is doing a vast deal to raise the standard of food and other products sold to the public. The report of the Bureau of Foods and Drugs for November, 1915, which is the last to come to hand, shows a very strict supervision of the many articles of diet in which the public is interested. Foods and drugs and cold storage foods were received at the bureau during that month in the following numbers: Foods 164, drugs 34, cold storage 132, and unofficial samples 156.

Among the official samples were eggs—thirty-four samples—which were sold as fresh. Nearly all of these samples were of mixed eggs. Some of these were found to be rotten, others were stale, others sold as fresh were cold storage and only a very few were fresh. Noodles were found to have been made without eggs; meat was found to be mixed with sulphur dioxide and others contained cereal without the declaration of the presence of such an element as required by law.

Condiments contained from 100,000,000 to 800,000,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter. Many of these samples showed mold and some had a proportion of yeast and spores. Aromatic spirits of ammonia, camphorated oil and aspirin were found to be either too weak or too strong or not to contain the substance indicated on the label.

Of cold storage articles eggs were found to be all moldy or putrid and all were destroyed. The fish samples consisted of salt, brine and smoked fish, all of which were in good condition. Cheese samples were in good condition. Most of the nuts sent in were found in good condition with a few rancid and wormy lots. About 5000 pounds out of 25,000 pounds of poultry was found unfit for human consumption. The proportion of cold storage articles in this category was very high. Physical and chemical examination showed that much of the sweetbreads, frozen eggs, strawberries, logan berries, turkeys, ducks and geese, chickens and frogs, from cold storage, were unfit for food. A great many articles in the way of condiments were also condemned—sauerkraut, olives, vinegar, pickles, syrup, anchovies, so-called Worcestershire sauce, and catsup.

Representative samples of all these products were collected by the State inspectors and examined at the State Food and Drug laboratory. All the food products in establishments where foods unfit for human use were found were quarantined pending a complete investigation of the food materials. All of the products that were pronounced unfit for human food were condemned and destroyed.

This is very encouraging to the public. There is nothing more likely to prove injurious to health than food of the description that is indicated in these reports of the bureau. Prompt and drastic action against firms that sell such putrid foods and condiments is the only way to put an end to such practices and to safeguard the public health. The excellent work done by the bureau is deserving of the highest commendation.

Were it not for the work of the bureau the public could have no security against the foisting on it of products such as some of those among the samples which were found to be two years old and as in the case of the so-called Worcestershire sauce literally filled up with flies and all manner of pollution. On the other hand where complaints had been made against some canning establishments examination showed that they were working under satisfactory conditions and that their products were pure. Thus it is seen that the bureau is thoroughly impartial and is acting simply in the interests of the public.

COMING CLASH OF THE POWERS

Greece is shortly to be made the scene of a most sanguinary encounter of the forces of the contending powers of Europe. It may be as Lord Kitchener has declared that the war will be decided on the western front; but in the meantime there is about to open a very fierce struggle in the east. This, it is supposed, is being done for the sake of impressing the Balkan powers that still remain neutral.

However that may be, the encounter will lose none of its ferocity. It is stated that the Germans, Austrians, Bulgarians and Turks who are now massed under German leadership in front of the Allies lines at Saloniki number about 600,000. That is a most formidable army and will undoubtedly cause a great slaughter. It is doubtful, however, if even such a force as that will be able to break the lines of the allies, supported as they are by the war vessels of the British and French. The massing up of the hostile powers means an enormous loss of life without much result. When all shall have been attempted and done there will probably remain a position similar to that in Flanders on the west end of the mighty war line.

Inevitably the great attempt of the war will be made in the west. Nothing that can happen at Saloniki will have a great deal of effect one way or the other unless to waste still more the dwindling forces of the Austro-Germans, who have received a new lease of life by the enlistment of the Turkish and Bulgarian forces on their side. Their far-flung battle line is now 1500 miles in length. That is an enormous length to guard or on which to attack and before such extraordinary proportions the old wars fade into insignificance. When, as in the case of the battle of Mukden in the Russo-Turkish campaign the battle line was 90-miles long, it was thought that the limit had been reached. That, however, has been entirely outclassed in the present war, with its battle lines reaching out to the 2000-mile mark.

All Europe will watch with anxiety and with interest the result of the battle at the Saloniki lines. They will also look with some anxiety on both sides to the probable conduct of Greece, which even now may become a very prominent factor in the war. Greece, with a pro-German king and an army chiefly officered by German officers, while a majority of the people and the majority of the army are pro-ally and followers of Venizelos, the patriotic prime minister, might be looked to for some dramatic action.

In the situation at Saloniki there are all the elements of history-making on a gigantic scale and future ages may read with profound interest the events of these exciting and dubious days.

School Street Is Damaged

Property owners along School St., which has just been macadamized, should feel very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Williams for the strenuous efforts which they put forth to save the street. When the downpour began Monday night Mrs. Williams could not sleep for worrying about the street and finally arose and went out to investigate. She found that the storm water was just beginning to break over and endanger the street. She at once aroused Mr. Williams and they both worked from midnight Monday night to Tuesday afternoon piling in sacks of sand and doing such other work as was necessary to protect the street. In spite of the efforts considerable damage was done on the lower end of the street. The gutter in front of Mr. Selleck's property was washed out and there were several large cuts done below Green St.

Streets Are Damaged by Storm

Mr. F. B. Hall, our rural mail carrier, has been having a rather hard time making his rounds the last few days as he has had to walk long distances to some of the boxes as some of the roads were impassable.

Roy avenue was badly damaged by the storm water. The channel became obstructed in some manner and the water went down Roy avenue, crossing the boulevard and going down through Mr. Ellis' property, doing considerable damage.

The most serious flood in the valley was caused by the Burr wash which broke out of its channel in which it has been kept for the past few years, and went down the old channel, the water going through the garage but doing slight damage there. It then shifted to the west and passed through the house occupied by the Gutares family. This gave them a great fright. The water left a great amount of mud and sediment in the house, damaging the furniture to some extent, but the family fortunately escaped injury. Mrs. Hamilton's barn was also flooded. Other property along Michigan avenue between Union and Indiana streets was damaged. The water then rushed down Indiana street in a raging torrent, washing out the street so badly that it will be impassable for a few days.

Mr. C. H. McArthur, one of the best known of the older residents of the valley, passed away at the Soldiers' home at Sawtelle last Friday. Mr. McArthur served gallantly through the Civil war with an Indiana regiment, after being mustered out of service at the close of the war he farmed for several years in Indiana and Ohio. He then came to California and settled in La Canada many years ago. At one time Mr. McArthur owned several hundred acres of land and he laid out the present townsite of La Canada. Mr. McArthur leaves three children, Mr. C. McArthur of Glendora, Mr. J. B. McArthur of Los Angeles and Miss McArthur, who has been residing with her father in La Canada.

LA CRESCENTA

Fairmount News

Guests arriving during the past week at the Fairmount Hotel in La Crescenta are: Mr. and Mrs. Boaz Duncan, Miss Barclay, Dr. E. M. Spates, Los Angeles; Miss Ethel Summe, Mr. Ray M. Summe, Chicago.

New potatoes were served the guests for the first time this season last Sunday, A domino tournament is entertaining the guests for the rainy evenings.

Nearly all of the guests registered above are permanent for the time being.

Tunnel Flooded

Workmen on the water tunnel at the Gould castle, which is now owned by a Mr. Cohn of Oakland, were literally "drowned out," Monday, when the sides caved in. The water development work will have to be done over as the flood water completely ruined that already in.

At La Crescenta Hotel

Following are the guests registered at the La Crescenta Hotel over the present rainy season: Mr. G. Allan Hancock, Ruth B. Stephens, Gertrude Bartee, Woodford Davison, Gerald A. Rule, Mrs. V. B. Stone and Mrs. Georges Fusenot, all of Los Angeles; Mr. Tom Woolwine, Jr., also spent a couple of days at the hostelry with his parents.

Dr. Edward B. Meisgeier of Weehawken, N. J., is at the hotel for three months' rest. Professor Roth of Berkeley is another notable at the La Crescenta.

Tale of the Storm

In La Crescenta, the heavy rainfall which has inundated the greater part of Southern California, did very little material damage. Some house roofs leaked and roads were badly mussed up, but otherwise, nothing serious was reported.

An inspection of the roads, made by the Progress reporter Tuesday, showed that roads running parallel with the hill crests were badly washed. Honolulu avenue was a typical instance of this. Traffic, however, was impeded more by the wash rock than by the wash ditches. Night driving, either by auto or buggy, was extremely tedious.

La Crescenta claims one advantage in the recent storm. Here, the people had light and power all the time, while in Glendale and other towns the lines were down.

Passengers on the Glendale and Montrose railway had to transfer at the Verdugo wash on Monday and part of Tuesday, as the tracks were badly spread by the Verdugo Canyon wash.

A Mexican working on the road gang was taken seriously ill the first of the week and rmoved by those in charge of the camp to a Pasadena hospital. It was thought he suffered an attack of appendicitis.

The officers of La Crescenta Parent-Teacher association attended the council of presidents at the Times building during the past week. The local representatives secured a speaker for the next Lo Crescenta school meeting to speak on "Child Labor Laws."

ONLY FATHER WILL UNDERSTAND

Mother—What did your father say when he found that his pipe was broken??

Little Willie—Shall I leave out the swear words, mother?

Mother—Certainly, my dear.

Little Willie—He didn't say anything.

AND SHE KEPT ON SMOKING

"Aunt Chloe, do you think you are a Christian?" asked a preacher of an old negro woman who was smoking a pipe.

"Yes, brudder, I 'spects I is."

"Do you believe in the Bible?"

"Yes, brudder, I does."

"Do you know there is a passage in the Scripture that declares that nothing unclean shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven?"

"Yes, I'se heerd of it."

"Well, you smoke, and there is nothing so unclean as the breath of a smoker. Have you ever thought of that?"

"Dey's nuthin' to it. When I goes dere I 'spects to leave my breff behind me."

Whenever Auntie moves around,
Her dresses make a curious sound;
They trail behind her on the floor
And trundle after through the door.

BASKETBALL

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 the Glendale U. H. school basketball team will play Alhambra High on the local court for the championship of the Central league. Last year the local track team defeated Alhambra and hopes to repeat this year.

REPORT OF RAINFALL

According to Glendale's local weather recorder, Mr. J. E. Bartlett, 101 Brand boulevard, the rain fall from 7 o'clock Tuesday night to 8 o'clock Wednesday morning was .83 of an inch. This brings the rainfall for the storm up to 9.51 inches and for the season to 18.51 inches. The situation in the Glendale district remains much the same as it was Tuesday evening. The Wash is confined to its channel and the Sycamore canyon waters have subsided considerably. Should there be no further excessive rains the situation can be handled satisfactorily by the city forces. Reports from the surrounding district show a serious situation.

COTTAGE PRAYER MEETINGS

Prayer groups, held in connection with the pre-communion services at Glendale Presbyterian church, will meet in the following homes Thursday afternoon at 2:30:

Mrs. R. D. Colgrove, 707 Adams street.
Mrs. S. S. Neighbors, 123 Orange street.
Mrs. C. T. Tooker, 117 S. Adams street.
Mrs. J. S. Thomas, 315 N. Louise street.
Mrs. Frank Dickman, 526 W. Fifth street.
Mrs. Lampert, 306 W. Fifth St.
Mrs. H. M. Robertshaw, 332 Belmont street.

Dr. Ryder of Tropico was also present and assisted in prayer. He is urging his people to unite with the Glendale congregation in these services. The large chorus choir assisted in the services and gave several anthems. Miss Irwin and Mr. Marple sang a duet.

NO MEETING

Owing to the fact that there were not enough members present to warrant having a meeting the meeting of the First M. E. Baraca class which was to have been held Tuesday evening, Jan. 18, 1916, was again postponed. This is the second time we have tried to have a meeting and there has not been enough of the members of the class interested in the welfare of the class to come out to the meetings. It is hoped that when the next meeting is announced there will be a full attendance of the members.

At the meeting of the First M. E. Baraca class on Sunday morning, Jan. 16, there were 30 young men present and every one seemed to be satisfied with the new course of lessons that are being taken up under the direction of the efficient teacher, Prof. A. W. Tower.

TO THE LAST DITCH

Lovett—You don't believe in divorce, then. I supposed you would.

Hater—I don't. I've got too much sporting blood in me.

Lovett—What has that to do with it?

Hater—I believe in a fight to the finish.

JUST SWEET SIXTEEN

In the younger set the happiest occasion on the past week's social calendar was the dinner dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Richardson D. White in the White home at 1431 West 3rd street on last Saturday evening, honoring the sixteenth natal day of their attractive daughter, Miss Aileen Preeman.

Radiant pink rosebuds and fern fronds graced the dinner board, while Enchantress carnations of pink were used in the spacious living room where dancing was enjoyed.

The young hostess was assisted throughout the evening by her mother, Mrs. White. Guests seated at dinner with Miss Preeman were the Misses Margaret and Rebecca Gregg, Francis Peckham, Helen MacMullin, Carol Willisford, Catherine Lord and Messrs. Lawrence Davis, Robert Koltz, Harry Glazier, Edward Seay, I. S. Brown, James Shea and Montgomery Coole.

Before the close of the evening's enjoyment the birthday cake of white, aglow with lighted pink tapers was cut by the birthday child.

SENATOR HALE'S HUMOR

Senator Hale of Maine met Senator Spooner one day when there was to be a night session of the senate. "Senator," said Hale, "I suppose you will be at the night session?"

"I don't see how I can," Spooner replied. "I have a dinner engagement that prevents."

"Spooner," remonstrated Senator Hale, "that isn't the right spirit. We have an enormous quantity of work to do, and we must give up our pleasures for the duties our constituents have entrusted us to perform. We are needed at our desks."

Senator Spooner thought it over and telephoned his wife that he could not go to the dinner because of the night session He told her to go and have a good time, and he remained at his desk until the senate adjourned. When he reached home he asked Mrs. Spooner if she had a good time.

"Delightful," said she.

"Who took you in to dinner?" asked Spooner.

"Senator Hale," Mrs. Spooner replied.

SHARING HONORS

Miss Inez Harrison received at the home of her parents, 245 South Kenwood street, as hostess this afternoon the girls of Mrs. T. D. Ogg's Sunday school class of which she is a member. The affair was a birthday celebration, four occurring among the guests during this month. The Misses Elizabeth Edmonds, Agnes Tupper, Tarrietta Connor and Evelyn Albright shared the honors. The party was also a farewell courtesy to Evelyn Albright, whose parents move to Los Angeles in the near future.

The afternoon was spent in jolly games and music, the charming young hostess being assisted in receiving and entertaining by her mother, Mrs. M. P. Harrison, and class instructor, Mrs. T. D. Ogg. Members of the Sunday school class included the Misses Arlene McMasters, Margaret West, Evelyn Albright, Elizabeth Edmonds, Martha Eilers, Alice Hetrick, Tarrietta Connor, Agnes Tupper, Olive Taylor, Virginia Bollman and Inez Harrison.

The Pacific Light and Power company was notified and the break is being repaired this morning.

LITERARY SECTION

The Literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. H. Willisford, 231 Orange street.

In spite of the disagreeable weather a large number of the section's members were present and enjoyed a most interesting and well presented program.

"The Will," a play from the pen of J. M. Barrie, was cleverly and entertainingly reviewed by Mrs. Daugherty. "How to See a Play" was the interesting topic used by Mrs. McNutt in her talk for the afternoon and Mrs. Willisford quite delighted her hearers with a "Travel Talk," tellling of her European trip. This number was followed with a discussion and questions on each topic.

LECTURE ON HOLY SPIRIT

At the Presbyterian church, on Tuesday evening, Dr. James R. Pratt of Pasadena spoke very clearly and helpfully on receiving the Holy Spirit. "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" is the great question he asked. The meetings promise to be of benefit to all and a cordial invitation is extended to attend. On Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, Dr. Pratt will address a meeting for young people. Let no one fail to hear him, for it is a great opportunity. This invitaton is specially given to our young people of the Valley.

Conditions are such nowadays that people are not apt to become surprised at the announcement of the most startling events.

EAGLE ROCK

Saturday evening about forty young people pleasantly surprised Miss May Moore at her home on Rosemont avenue, the occasion being her birthday. She was in Los Angeles during the early part of the evening and upon her return home as she entered the house she was welcomed with a loud shout of "surprise." Music and games mingled with conversation made the evening pass very quickly. At a late hour the girls found their partners and dainty refreshments of cocoa, cake and candy were served by Miss Nannie Moore. May was presented with a silver friendship bracelet engraved with friends' initials.

A large number from Eagle Rock Masonic lodge attended the public installation of the Glendale chapter last Monday evening, Jan. 10th, which was held at the Masonic Temple on Brand boulevard.

In spite of the heavy rains Saturday night and all day Sunday the attendance at all of the Eagle Rock churches was unusually large.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin McNitt of West Colorado boulevard are the proud parents of a baby boy who arrived last Tuesday.

The frost which occurred several times last week did considerable damage to garden stuff in various parts of our city and now this week the rains are doing the damage. Monday Valley Drive, the street just off from Central avenue, was a roaring river from bank to bank and the walks were entirely covered with water. The culverts at Adams and Ridgeway avenues and Valley Drive were washed out as well as the bridge crossings at Eagle Rock and Laurence avenues at Valley Drive.

Edwards & Wildey will soon begin the erection of two more bungalows on East Sycamore avenue. They already have two cozy houses completed in this newly opened tract, formerly known as the Horwitz tract.

J. H. Sheets, the new owner of the Eagle Rock Grocery, has just finished cleaning and overhauling the storeroom and certainly not a more sanitary looking grocery can be found in this city. All of the cases, shelves and fixtures are done in white and everything is neatly arranged under cover to keep it free from dust and dirt.

Mr. and Mrs. Philpott and son Thomas of West Eagle avenue have moved to Highland Park. Their many friends as well as neighbors miss them, but wish them success in their new location.

The Occidental Glee club concert held Friday evening was well attended in spite of the disagreeable weather and the following was the program rendered:

"Mistress Mine," Glee Club; "Vira," club; violin duet, Mr. Key, Mr. Howe; "Defiance," Glee club; reading, Mr. Tidball; Spanish song, Glee club; marching song, stringed octette; Italian son, Glee club; stunt, quartet; "Idylle Mongoliene," Glee club.

The Ladies' Aid and Woman's Home Missionary societies were held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Frank Wight on North Peyton avenue. After considerable business matters pertaining to the Aid were done away with, Mrs. Wilson had charge of the opening exercises of the W. H. M. Mrs. C. W. Sanders and Mrs. G. R. Kingdon favored with a pretty duet, "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break," after which the new mite boxes were distributed and Miss Olive Moe gave a short talk on "The Mite Box." At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments of coffee, German coffee cake, cake and fruit were served by the hostess.

Another meeting of the Occidental Million committee was held Monday at the Alexandria hotel, the campaign headquarters. Two new members were added to the list and the president of the college, Dr. John Willis Baer, was present at this meeting. The executive committee plans a call for forty teams of business men, each team consisting of eight, headed by a good captain. Some of the best business men have been picked out as leaders of these teams and they will put forth as much energy as possible for the two-weeks' campaign.

A COBB-WEBB STORY

A gallant named Cobb met a maiden named Webb,
And straightway he sat down beside her;
And quickly proposed in a manner so glib,
That he caught her as soon as he spider.

LIKELY

Judge—"Officer, what's the matter with the prisoner—tell her to stop that crying—she's been at it fifteen minutes." (More sobs).

Officer—"Please, sir, I'm a'thinking she wants to be bailed out."

A STRONG TONIC

"If," said the druggist, "you will give this new tonic a trial you will never use any other."

"If it's all the same to you," replied the customer, "I prefer something less fatal."

THE CHALLENGE MET

Mrs. A—While I was going down town this morning the conductor came along and looked at me as if I had not paid my fare.

Mr. A—Well, what did you do

Mrs. A—I looked at him as if I had.

BAITING THE GROUCH

"Shine yer boots, sir?"

"No!" snapped the man.

"Shine 'em so's yer can see yer face in 'em?"

"Coward!" taunted the bootblack.

A MULE'S VARIOUS ENDS

"Why," asked a newspaper, "does our state stand at the head in the raising of mules??"

"Because," said an Iowa paper, "that is the only safe place to stand."

MODERN WARFARE

Uncle Ephriam's sympathies were all with the Allies. "Man," announced he, "has you heard 'bout them Allies? They's got a gun what kin hit you if you are twenty-three miles away."

"Lawsie, that ain't nothin'," sneered a colored partisan of the opposite camp. "De Germans, dey kin hit you if dey jes has yo' ad-dress."

AS, INDEED, HE WAS

The policeman had a gambler by the arm and was waiting for the patrol wagon to arrive.

"What are you doing?" asked a friend of the officer who happened to be passing.

"I am holding a card party," replied the cop.

A LA SHERLOCK

An Englishman, serving his country as attache to the British embassy at Washington, says that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the creator of Sherlock Holmes, has more than once been sought out by persons desirous of consulting him about thefts.

To one such woman Sir Arthur one day good naturedly and facetiously said, "My detective powers are quite at your service."

"Frequent and mysterious thefts," said the woman, "have been occurring at my house for a long time. Thus there disappeared last week a motor horn, a broom, a box of gold balls, a left riding boot, a dictionary and a half dozen tin pie plates."

"The case is perfectly clear," said Sir Arthur," you keep a goat."
